

Online Course: Linguistic Accommodations for English Language Learners

Mabel O. Rivera, PhD

David J. Francis, PhD

Center on Instruction

• Texas Institute for Measurement, Evaluation, and Statistics

• University of Houston

Overview

The Center on Instruction has released a FREE self-paced online course providing insight on Linguistic Accommodations for English Language Learners (ELLs).

To enroll in the course:

1. Visit the Educators' Academy at RMC:
<http://rmceducatorsacademy.com>
2. Click the course title:
Linguistic Accommodations for English Language Learners
3. Create an account with the Educators' Academy at RMC
4. To activate your account registration, click on the link in the email that you will receive once you create your account
5. Go to the Educators' Academy at RMC's website, click on the course title, and begin the course.

Content

- 🍎 Module One: Background Information and Facts about ELLs provides important information about the ELL population and the instructional programs that serve them across the nation.
- 🍎 Module Two: English Language Proficiency Standards and Proficiency Levels discusses the language proficiency development process and levels of English proficiency.
- 🍎 Module Three: Linguistic Accommodations for ELLs explores different types of direct and indirect linguistic accommodations ELL students may use during instruction and assessment.
- 🍎 Module Four: Selecting Appropriate ELL Accommodations deals with the selection and implementation process for linguistic accommodations and their role in student learning.