MESSAGE FROM CAL’S PRESIDENT & CEO

BUILDING COMMUNITIES AND ENRICHING CONNECTIONS THROUGH LANGUAGE

On behalf of the Chair of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Eugene Garcia, and all the Board of Trustees at the Center for Applied Linguistics, I am pleased to share our annual report for 2019.

As I reflect on 2019, I am reminded of Dr. Charles A. Ferguson’s vision for CAL when he established the organization exactly 60 years ago: to serve as a liaison between the academic world of linguistics and the practical world of language education and language-related concerns. Dr. Ferguson planted this seed at the core of CAL that it is not only the language that we use that matters, but also the people who use it to resolve complex challenges in their daily lives that carries consequences. Looking around today, it is clear that at no other time in CAL’s long history has this bold and progressive idea been more relevant for today’s current events across the world which demand that multilingual and multicultural citizens think globally and act locally to resolve our differences, and more importantly, discover our similarities.

Ferguson also envisioned CAL as an institution that “contributes new knowledge by conducting language research to resolve social and educational problems,” a value exhibited by our outstanding staff members and consultants. Customer relations and collaboration with project officers and clients have always been one of CAL’s major strengths. Not only does this contribute to maintaining continuous relationships with partners, sponsors, and clients, but it also contributes to maintaining CAL’s legacy, prestige, and reputation in the field of language and education leadership.

This year, we celebrated CAL’s 60th anniversary as a major milestone which has instilled renewed focus on the significant role of language and culture in today’s global community. Our theme of “Valuing All Voices” acknowledges our respect and acceptance for individual distinctions among members of society and represents CAL’s long-standing history of supporting language and cultural diversity around the globe. Through the research and activities of our staff, Board of Trustees, and consultants, CAL brought this theme of equity in language and literacy education, assessments, and research to life.

I am proud to present this report, which provides a closer look at the activities and highlights undertaken at CAL throughout the year on a wide range of work all dedicated to supporting the success of multilingual learners in the US and abroad.

As always, I look forward to continuing to work closely with CAL’s Board of Trustees and staff, as well as our funders, partners, and collaborators, to continue to bring CAL’s mission to life.

ENSURING QUALITY IN PRACTICE

What People Are Saying About Working With Us:

“When I first contemplated starting WIDA, I reached out to the Center for Applied Linguistics to partner with us in what has become one of the most successful partnerships in the world of standards and assessment. CAL has been much more than our principal item developer; they have been a thought partner for us at WIDA from the very beginning and I can honestly say that without CAL there would be no WIDA. Their knowledge of multilingual learners, language assessment, and their mission driven orientation make them the perfect complement to our own work. Together I believe we are able to offer educators the assessments and resources they need and deserve to meet the needs of their multilingual learners.”

Tim Boals, Ph.D.
WIDA FOUNDER and DIRECTOR
WIDA at the Wisconsin Center or Education Research

The CAL-WIDA Partnership
CAL provides exemplary support to its clients who rely on CAL’s experience and expertise in the areas of assessments for English Learners (ELs). These include: 1) the Wisconsin Center for Education Research (WCER) for the WIDA assessments; 2) New York State Department of Education for the New York State English as a Second Language Achievement Test (NYSESLAT) speaking test; and 3) programs and organizations using the BEST Plus and BEST Literacy assessments.

As the test development partner for the WIDA suite of assessments, CAL provides support for the EL assessment used by over 35 states, two territories, the District of Columbia, the Department of Defense Schools and the Bureau of Indian Education.

2019 Highlights

● ACCESS for 2.1 million ELLs: CAL continues its ongoing relationship with the WIDA consortium, serving as the test developer for ACCESS for ELLs, a high stakes English proficiency assessment administered annually to +2.1 million students across 40 states.

● Ensuring Quality in Practice: Annual external reviews by WIDA and four State Education Agencies ensure that ACCESS maintains the highest quality. In 2019, CAL passed the review with flying colors averaging nearly 100% pass rate of the criteria reviewed.

● Our Test Developers Deliver Results: Creation of print and digital content for the 2019–2020 ACCESS included hundreds of thousands of printed tests, 350 new items & tasks, +1,000 original graphics, +500,000 lines of code.

● Tool Development on Target For Early Learners: Our team conducted field tests for the new WIDA Screener for Kindergarten. The test will be ready for use by schools in early 2021.

● Field Testing Completed for MODEL Online: CAL completed the initial development of new speaking tasks for the MODEL Online assessment. The tasks underwent field-testing, and the final operational forms are currently being constructed. Seven of ten tasks developed by CAL were ultimately chosen for the operational assessment.

What Effective, Engaging, and Sustained Professional Development Looks Like

During the 2019 year, CAL professional development (PD) staff sought to identify the principles of effective, engaging and sustained PD for teachers linguistically and culturally diverse students. After a literature review on PD practices as well as from the fields of second language acquisition and instruction, staff developed a list of six standards to strive for in PD sessions delivered:

1. Research-based, content driven, and relevant;
2. Meaningful and intellectually stimulating;
3. Engaging, interactive, and collaborative;
4. Well-organized and facilitated;
5. Positively-framed, respectful, and inclusive; and
The three pillars of Dual Language Education as cited in the Guiding Principles for Dual Language Education, 3rd Edition, are bilingualism & biliteracy, high academic achievement, and sociocultural competence for all students.

In Dual Language programs, learners don’t just learn a new language in small doses; they master the target language all while exploring specific content areas, like science, math, history, and language arts. They also use the language to develop relationships with peers and teachers.

Countless studies show that all students in Dual Language programs receive long-term benefits, including:

- Supporting Self-Awareness & Identity;
- Improved Academic, Linguistic, Sociocultural, and Economic Outcomes
- Increased Problem-Solving Skills;
- Better Understanding of Cultural Awareness & Diversity;
- Enhanced Communication Skills

English learners in the U.S. context are able to use their first language as a resource in learning content and the second language and are afforded the opportunity to maintain their mother tongue. English monolingual students enjoy the privilege of learning a second language.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS

ENSURING ACCESS AND MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING FOR LEARNERS OF ENGLISH

Highlights from 2019:

PreK-Post Secondary: ESL Assessment, Research and Technical Assistance

- Successfully delivered new speaking test items for the New York State English as a Second Language Achievement Test (NYSESLAT) as part of CAL’s subcontract to MetriTech, Inc. to create materials for New York state’s annual English proficiency test. CAL also created scoring materials and deliver training for test raters in New York state.
- Awarded funding for and began work on a project to create online training courses to support English Learner Parent Advisory Councils (ELPACs) in the state of Massachusetts. The training materials include self-access courses designed for district staff and for parents.
- Directed by Lisa Tabaku, CAL provides comprehensive technical assistance to the Pasco School District in Washington state. Beginning with two evaluations of the district’s two-way DL programs, CAL assists the District to convert its transitional bilingual programs to dual language programs with the goal of offering successive dual language education programs to all elementary schools students, and creating a pipeline to the secondary level.

English for Heritage Language Speakers (EHLS) Program

CAL’s primary adult education contract, the English for Heritage Language Speakers (EHLS) program successfully coordinated an intensive instructional session culminating with the Open Source Analysis Project Symposium in late June. The symposium is hosted by CAL’s subcontractor, Georgetown University, and attended by many representatives from federal agencies. Seventeen (17) of the 18 entering EHLS scholars completed the project and graduated in August.

The English for Heritage Language Speakers (EHLS) program is an intensive program of study for adults who possess a high level of proficiency in a critical language and want to achieve high level professional proficiency in English. EHLS is funded by the National Security Education Program and is conducted in partnership with Georgetown University.

SPOTLIGHT: Mr. Viachaslau Bortnik was an EHLS Scholar in 2018, since graduating in August 2018, Bortnik has been hired at USCIS as an Asylum Officer. In April 2020, he received the 2019 President’s Volunteer Service Award. Born in Belarus, he has over 20 years of experience as a human rights advocate including founding and leading Amnesty International Belarus. Bortnik holds MPA from American University, MA in Political Science from European Humanities University, and MA in Russian language and literature from Gomel State University.
Continued to provide flexible and responsive client support for programs and users of CAL's BEST Plus 2.0 and BEST Literacy assessments. These tests are used to assess the English language proficiency of thousands of adult ESL students each year.

Completed a redesign of CAL's BEST Plus speaking test with new tasks designed to elicit higher-level responses that are aligned to new standards for adult ESL. The redesigned test, BEST Plus 3.0, will be available after it is approved by the U.S. Department of Education for use in adult ESL programs.

Conducted research with to support the use of the new BEST Literacy test, BEST Literacy 2.0, in adult ESL programs. We conducted a study of operational test forms with over 400 students from 10 programs across the United States. Results of the study will be used to support CAL's submission to U.S. Department of Education for approval of BEST Literacy 2.0.

Enrollment in world language classes in the U.S. is not growing at a rate representative that reflects the changing population (i.e. Flat growth).

There are +4.8 million K-12 English Language Learners in US public schools, almost 10% of the student population.

U.S.-born Hispanic and Asian children represent the largest percentage of that growth.

The Center for Applied Linguistics and Peace Corp

The Center for Applied Linguistics (CAL) is acting as an external consultant to the Peace Corps to review and validate the Peace Corps Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) Certificate program. The program includes 120 hours of training and two years of supervised teaching experience for Peace Corp volunteers who wish to gain professional training and certification in teaching English as a foreign language. CAL serves as the external validator for the certificate program, working with Peace Corp to review trainer credentials and provide technical assistance as needed.

This project is led by CAL staff members Dr. Keira Ballantyne and DeAnna Coon. These experienced professionals have more than twenty years combined experience in TESOL teaching, pre- and in-service teacher professional development, teacher training, program evaluation, and assessment fields.

Ghana Learning
Propelled by CAL

In 2019, CAL was awarded a sponsored project for technical assistance with the Ghana Learning Project. The majority of this work, including travel to Ghana to collaborate with local community members, will take place in early 2020. In preparation, CAL is organizing lesson plan activities for three terms of B1–B3 in the areas of reading comprehension and literacy games, vocabulary, oral language development; developing professional development materials to support activities, and finally,

CAL Equips Early Readers in Djibouti with Literacy Skills

In partnership with Family Health International (FHI360), CAL is supporting the second language learning and instructional strategy for a multi-year early grades reading project in Djibouti. The project, Djibouti Early Grade Reading Activity (DEGRA) supports the Ministère de l’Éducation Nationale et de la Formation Professionnelle (MENFOP) to achieve this goal by improving classroom materials and teacher training; building Civil Society Organization, Parent Teacher Association, School Management Committee, and family capacity to support reading; and strengthening the policy environment for reading instruction.

CAL helps to improve classroom materials and teacher training related to language acquisition. Children in Djibouti learn to read in French, which is a language most students rarely encounter outside of school. In support of the project, CAL incorporates second language learning strategies in materials development, assessment, and teacher training. CAL project team members have trained MENFOP staff on best practices in second language learning and literacy; developed teacher training modules on second language learning; and advised curriculum planning and materials development for best practices in second language instruction.
