Center for Applied Linguistics
Improving communication through better understanding of language and culture
2000 was marked by growth and change at CAL. Projects and initiatives begun in 2000 are taking us in new directions and bringing new staff to the Center. Ever-expanding use of the World Wide Web has resulted in record numbers of visits to our site at www.cal.org. Always a major resource for language education information, CAL now reaches many more people thanks to the Internet.

In Fall 2000, we were awarded a grant from the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development in conjunction with the U.S. Department of Education to study the acquisition of English literacy by Spanish speaking children. This project, Acquiring Literacy in English, has brought new specialists and researchers to CAL and promises to yield important findings that will have far-reaching implications for the teaching of reading in our schools.

Throughout 2000, our School Services initiative continued to expand. CAL staff performed needs assessments, trained teachers, and offered curriculum design assistance to over a dozen school districts. We also published the first issue of our School Services Newsletter and sent it to state education agencies and school districts across the country.

2000 also brought new and strengthened collaborations with organizations such as the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL), the American Institutes for Research (AIR), the National Clearinghouse for Bilingual Education (NCBE), Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL), the Educational Testing Service (ETS), Georgetown University, George Washington University, Iowa State University, the University of California Santa Cruz, Brown University, Harvard University, Johns Hopkins University, and others. These collaborations serve the interests of our constituents by allowing those of us in the field of language education to build upon our knowledge and work together to achieve common goals.

Growth in our testing program continues to offer new opportunities. More and more state adult education programs have adopted CAL's Basic English Skills Test (BEST); other tests developed at CAL are also receiving welcome attention. In addition, CAL has been exploring new technologies for administering tests. A Computerized Oral Proficiency Instrument (COPI), a computerized version of the BEST, and Arabic and Russian Web-based tests were all under investigation throughout the year. We anticipate continued expansion of our testing program, both in terms of sales and technology.
CAL's longest-serving employees:

Donna Christian, President (26 years)
Allene Grognet, Vice President (37 years)
Curtis Lynch (31 years)
Dora Johnson (36 years)

As new technologies in information dissemination have become available, CAL has responded well and quickly. Examples of CAL's creative use of technology include listservs such as the Ñandu K-8 foreign language listserv; electronic newsletters such as ERIC/CLL Language Link; Web-based resource compilations such as Resource Collections from the National Center for ESL Literacy Education (NCLE); and databases such as the ESL Standards Implementation Database at http://www.cal.org/eslstandards/eslstdsdb. A number of CAL's projects offer question-answering services via email, including Ask the Language Experts at eric@cal.org from the ERIC Clearinghouse on Languages and Linguistics. We also continue to expand and improve our Web site with new features and research results.

I am very pleased with CAL's growth and ability to manage change. The project descriptions and publications presented in this report give but a snapshot of the hard work and dedication of our excellent professional and support staff. It is through their efforts that CAL has become the dynamic organization that it is today.

RESEARCH STUDIES

Acquiring Literacy in English
National Institute of Child Health and Human Development and U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement
Research project on the acquisition of English literacy by Spanish speaking children. In addition to a Research Core focused on assessment and an Administrative Core, the program includes three subprojects:

Early Childhood Language and Literacy Development
A study of four-year-olds that looks at the relationship between the home and school environments, the links between growth in language skills in English and Spanish, and the differences in the literacy process for monolingual and bilingual children.

Transfer of Reading Skills in Bilingual Children
A study that looks at children's Spanish reading, English reading, and awareness of sounds and the structure of words in order to understand the role of the mother tongue (Spanish) in the development of the English reading competency of fourth- and fifth-grade Spanish speaking students. This project will also study teachers' implementation of reading instruction and develop materials for classroom use.

Spelling as an Indicator of English Literacy Development
A study of spelling in Spanish-English bilingual children in grades three to five to identify factors that explain high levels of transfer from Spanish to English spelling, as well as to determine the relationships between English spelling skills and English reading ability in bilingual children.

Benchmark Study
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs (subcontract from Institute for Policy Analysis and Research)
Evaluation study to investigate the dynamics of school change over time in schools serving limited English proficient students through Title VII Comprehensive School grants.

Center for Research on Education, Diversity & Excellence
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (subcontract from University of California at Santa Cruz)
CREDE-funded research activities at CAL include the following:

Effects of Sheltered Instruction on the Achievement of Limited English Proficient Students
Development of an explicit model for the teaching of content area curricula to English language learners, and professional development to help teachers implement the model.

Newcomers: Language and Academic Programs for Recent Immigrants
Study of newcomer programs for recently arrived secondary students whose English proficiency is limited. Examination of the programs' strategies for promoting successful transition to U.S. schools.

Two-Way Immersion Education
Investigation and documentation of two-way immersion programs: implementation, instructional outcomes, effects on student populations, and articulation issues.

Expanding Educational Opportunity in Linguistically Diverse Societies
Ford Foundation
Study of promising approaches for improving access to education for students from diverse language backgrounds in multilingual societies around the world.

Foreign Language Teaching: What the United States Can Learn from Other Countries
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement
Publication on the Web of a survey of educators from 19 countries regarding methodologies, strategies, and policies in their countries that could help to improve language teaching in the United States.

National Survey of Assessment of Foreign Language Teachers
U.S. Department of Education, International Research and Studies Program
Survey of state certification boards, local school districts, and teacher preparation programs to learn how foreign language competency of K-12 teachers is being assessed.

Northeast and Islands Regional Educational Laboratory
Implementing Standards for English Language Learners
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (subcontract from Brown University)
Applied research on professional development for implementing academic standards in culturally diverse schools.

Program in Immigrant Education
Andrew W. Mellon Foundation
Coordination of the Foundation's pre-collegiate Immigrant Education Program, including research and evaluation, publications, and dissemination.
Transfer of Reading Skills from Spanish to English: A Study of Young Learners
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs
Research study to address how reading skills acquired in Spanish transfer when English language learners begin reading in English and how this transfer benefits the development of English literacy.

Using Distance Learning to Support Preschool Teachers' Professional Development
National Science Foundation; National Institute of Child Health and Human Development; and U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (subcontract from Educational Development Center, Inc.)
Comprehensive discourse analysis of the interaction among early childhood teachers engaged in a distance learning course on language and literacy.

RESOURCE CENTERS AND CLEARINGHOUSES
Center for Research on Education, Diversity & Excellence
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (subcontract from University of California at Santa Cruz) http://www.cal.org/crede
Dissemination of research information, which includes developing and publishing research and educational practice reports and articles, planning conferences and exhibitions, networking with other research organizations, and conducting other outreach activities.

ERIC Clearinghouse on Languages and Linguistics
Operation of a national clearinghouse that provides information about foreign language education, English as a second language, bilingual education, and linguistics.

National Capital Language Resource Center
U.S. Department of Education, International Research and Studies Program (subcontract from Georgetown University) http://www.cal.org/ncrlc
Development of test materials, provision of information about materials for teaching and testing the less commonly taught languages, and the training of language teachers in testing and in the use of multimedia.

National Center for ESL Literacy Education
Operation of an adjunct ERIC clearinghouse that provides information about literacy education for adults learning English as a second language and provides technical assistance to adult ESL literacy programs.

National K–12 Foreign Language Resource Center
U.S. Department of Education, International Research and Studies Program (subcontract from Iowa State University) http://www.cal.org/k12firc

National Network for Early Language Learning
Membership organization http://www.cal.org/projects/nnef.html
Secretariat for 1000-member organization of teachers, administrators, researchers, and parents. Activities include publication of the journal Learning Languages, networking, and advocacy.

Refugee Service Center
U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration http://www.cal.org/rsc
Facilitation of information exchange among overseas refugee processing centers and domestic resettlement programs through translation and publication of refugee-specific materials, Web site development, and support for cultural orientation programs.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE
Carlos Rosario Center
Carlos Rosario International Charter School, Washington, DC
Technical assistance with a team of teachers on how to conduct and analyze needs assessment to determine the curriculum goals. Development of curriculum for different adult ESL instructional levels.

Comprehensive Regional Technical Assistance Center Region XIV
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Elementary and Secondary Education (subcontract from Educational Testing Service)
Collaboration with the Educational Testing Service to operate a regional assistance center focusing on needs of children from high poverty backgrounds in Florida, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

Local Innovation-Challenge Grants for Technology in Education: IN-VISION
U.S. Department of Education, National Challenge Grants (subcontract from Iowa State University)
Assessment of cultural attitudes and language development of students and teachers participating in a video-based language program.

Northeast and Islands Regional Educational Laboratory Improving Foreign Language Instruction in Schools
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement (subcontract from Brown University)
Provision of foreign language resources to educators in the Northeast, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Web site development and maintenance, moderation of listserv, and teacher training activities.
Standards-Based, Sheltered Curriculum Development
Prince George’s County, MD
Coordination of sheltered biology, government, and algebra curriculum development integrating ESL standards with Maryland high school subject standards.

ASSESSMENT AND TESTING
Development of Computerized Basic English Skills Test (C-BEST)
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Vocational and Adult Education
Development of a computer-assisted oral assessment instrument for adult ESL programs across the nation.

Foreign Language National Assessment of Educational Progress Item Development
U.S. Department of Education, National Center for Education Statistics
Development of communication tasks to demonstrate student achievement in interpersonal listening and speaking for the foreign language NAEP. In addition to the Educational Testing Service, partners include the American Institutes for Research and the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. This project builds upon successful development of the foreign language NAEP framework.

Investigation into Computer-Administered Speaking Tests
U.S. Department of Education, International Research and Studies Program
Examination of the potential for computer-administered speaking tests to measure oral language proficiency.

Language Assessment of Two-Way Immersion Program
Springfield, MA Public Schools
Adaptation of and teacher training on the Student Oral Proficiency Assessment for Spanish and Russian two-way immersion programs.

National Assessment of Educational Progress: Foreign Language Framework Development
U.S. Department of Education/National Assessment Governing Board
Collaboration with the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages and the American Institutes for Research to conduct a national consensus-building project involving over 50 specialists. Comprehensive national review process to develop recommendations for the framework and specifications for the first foreign language National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP).

Operational Testing Program
Center for Applied Linguistics, Foreign Language Education and Testing Division
Dissemination and sales of the Basic English Skills Test (BEST); oral proficiency testing materials in Spanish, French, German, Russian, Chinese, Japanese, and Arabic; and listening and reading proficiency tests in Chinese, Polish, and Arabic.

Using New Technology to Develop and Deliver Web-Based Proficiency Tests in Arabic and Russian
U.S. Department of Education, International Research and Studies Program
Development of a general framework for testing listening and reading proficiency for all less commonly taught languages; development of operational tests in Arabic and Russian.

PROGRAM EVALUATION AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
ASPIRE! Career Opportunities for Bilingual Paraprofessionals
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs (subcontract from University of Central Florida)
In-service training for bilingual paraprofessionals to help schools, districts, and teachers improve their instructional support services. Coordination of tuition reimbursement program for bilingual paraprofessionals working toward teaching certificates.

Building the Knowledge and Expertise of Teachers of Spanish to Heritage Spanish Speakers
National Endowment for the Humanities
Six-week summer institute at the University of California Los Angeles to prepare secondary school teachers to work with native Spanish speakers in Spanish language classes.

Improving Education with Bilingual Teacher Training
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs (subcontract from Sealaska Heritage Foundation)
Professional development for pre-K—12 educators working toward heritage language and culture revitalization for Tlingit and other Southeast Alaskan native peoples.

Language Diversity and Learning
Prince George’s County, MD Public Schools
Professional development for content teachers of English language learners in three highly-impacted secondary schools.

Pre-K—12 ESL Standards and Assessment Project
Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages, Inc.
Direction of TESOL’s national effort to develop ESL Standards for pre-K—12 students, including development of content standards, assessment guidelines, and implementation activities.
Project ENLACE (ENriching Language And Culture Education)
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs (subcontract from Illinois Resource Center)
Evaluation of Project ENLACE, an ongoing professional development project for bilingual teachers.

Project FOCUS
Memphis, TN City Schools
Evaluation of Memphis City Schools’ Elementary School Foreign Language Project.

Serving the Needs of LEP Students
The Georgia Project
Needs assessment and program documentation for the Dalton City and Whitfield County (GA) Public Schools.

Summer Institute for Two-Way Immersion Teachers
Springfield, MA Public Schools
Summer institute to strengthen understanding of the critical features of two-way immersion, second language acquisition, biliteracy development, and strategies to increase teachers' effectiveness in two-way immersion programs.

Tapestry: A Teacher Preparation Program
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs (subcontract from University of South Florida)
Development of a CD-ROM for faculty to learn principles of ESL, bilingual education, and cultural diversity. Implementation of two Web-based courses: (1) Principles of Language Acquisition and (2) Methods and Techniques for ESL Learners.

Training for Teachers—Southeast Missouri State University
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs
Professional development for teacher trainers and university faculty on ESL standards-based education.

Two-Way Immersion Teacher Research Collaborative Spencer Foundation
Two-year teacher research seminar with seven two-way immersion teachers from Key Elementary School in Arlington County (VA) Public Schools.

MATERIALS DEVELOPMENT

Directory of Resources for Foreign Language Programs
Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, National Clearinghouse for Bilingual Education
Development of a Web-based directory that identifies clearinghouses and other organizations and associations, especially those at the national level, that can serve as resources for the improvement of foreign language programs.

New Standards: English Writing Standards for Spanish Speakers in K-3
University of Pittsburgh
Evaluation of the writing of native Spanish speakers for the English Language Arts Standards of the New Standards Project, an organization that has established sets of content performance standards for grades K-12.

Professional Development for Teachers of Second-Language Readers
Carnegie Foundation of New York
Development of materials for teacher training on the difficulties of learning to read in a second language.

What Teachers Need to Know about Language
U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement
Development of Web-based materials on what teachers need to know about language in order to teach reading to linguistically diverse students.

SCHOOL SERVICES

CAL operates a School Services program that conducts special-purpose, short-term projects for schools and local and state education agencies. During 2000, these projects served schools and school districts throughout the nation, including the following.

- Beauvoir School, Washington, DC
- Chester Upland School District, PA
- District of Columbia Public Schools
- Gainesville City Schools, GA
- Irving Independent School District, TX
- John Stanford International School, Seattle, WA

THE CENTER FOR APPLIED LINGUISTICS

CAL is a private, non-profit organization: a group of scholars and educators who use the findings of linguistics and related sciences in identifying and addressing language-related problems. CAL carries out a wide range of activities including research, teacher education, analysis and dissemination of information, design and development of instructional materials, technical assistance, conference planning, program evaluation, and policy analysis.

CAL was established in 1959 and is headquartered in Washington, D.C. with a regional office, the CAL Sunbelt Office, in Sarasota, Florida. CAL is exempt from corporate federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Contributions to CAL are tax deductible.

CAL frequently contributes expertise about language and culture to collaborative efforts. Inquiries are welcomed from organizations interested in partnering to carry out projects that further language-oriented missions in combination with other social goals. Visit CAL's website at www.cal.org to learn more about CAL's people, activities and services.
